It's is the season of change, ladies! It's time to embrace who you are and what you love. Nothing says feminine and womanly more than a gorgeous dress to bring out your inner princess and life spirits. But if you've found yourself lacking the courage, this is the time to take the plunge. Body positivity for all shapes and sizes, this summer's curvy dresses will have you wanting more.

How to Choose Curvy Dresses

1. Look for a curvy dress that helps highlight and create a waist for you at your smallest part. This is often found right below your bust line. If the dress doesn't have an accentuated waistline, it is super easy to create your own with your favorite belt or even a scarf. Feel free to emphasize your gorgeous waist to create a memorable silhouette.

- 2. Look for dresses that flow outward from your waist or help create a waist. Breaking your silhouette into two helps create a stunning as well as pleasing profile. When curvy dresses have skirts that flow and fall outward at the hips, it settles flawlessly on the stomach and hips.
- 3. Be proud of what you have! Feel free and confident to emphasize what you love about your body. Find a dress that features an open neckline to showcase your beautiful neck. Flattering necklines to look for are the V-neck, the sweetheart, and the scoop neckline. Sometimes curvy women may feel like they aren't allowed to show off their best parts, and that's nonsense! Nobody is perfect, but showing off what you love about your body is never a crime!

Why a Curvy Dress Is Best

When it comes to style, a curvy dress is almost like a best friend. Many ladies may shy away because they mistakenly think a dress is only for "skinny" girls, but that is not true. A dress allows you to show off your gorgeous curves, keep cool, and make you look fabulous in a way no other piece of clothing can. Dare to wear a dress this season and take pride in who you are! Curvy dresses are in and so comfortable you'll no doubt want one for every day of the week!
